Britain Is To Sign No New European Security Treaties

Statement at Disarmament Conference Indicates United Kingdom in Line With Germany and Italy in Opposing French Proposal of Pacts Before Arms Reduction

Britain Points To Existing Treaties

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 3.—The British government is not disposed to undertake any new engagements to buttress security on the continent of Europe, Captain Anthony Eden, British under-secretary of state for Foreign Affairs, declared today at a meeting of the World Disarmament Conference here, thus disclosing the existence of another tremendous obstacle to realization of the French disarmament plan.

This British declaration followed announcements yesterday by the German and Italian representatives rejecting or fundamentally criticizing the French thesis that arms reduction must wait on conclusion of additional security-guaranteeing treaties.

“In the search for new safeguards of peace,” said Capt. Eden, “we must not overlook those which already exist. There is first, for those of us who are members of the League of Nations, a covenant which is expressly binding on us all. There is next the Pact of Paris, to which almost every government in the world has subscribed. There is finally for certain countries in western Europe the Treaty of Locarno.”

The committee's terms of reference include a survey of the functions, organization, and financial basis of the organs of economic co-operation at present existing within the Empire, and an examination of what alterations and modifications, if any, in the existing machinery for such co-operation within the Commonwealth are desirable.

Man Shot Through Shoulder Caught By Motorcycle Constable; Companion Escapes in Auto

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 3.—One man was shot and another escaped when two bandits to-day staged one of the most daring daylight robberies this city has seen. The two entered the Royal Bank branch at Church and Wellesley Streets, held up the employees and two customers and left after scooping up approximately $3,000 in cash.

FAMILIES ESCAPE AS APARTMENTS BURN

Toronto Firemen Have Stiff Fight With Blaze; Great Clouds of Heavy Smoke

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 3.—Thirty scantily clad persons were rescued or escaped from the blazing and smoke-filled Bertrage Apartments in downtown Toronto early to-day while firemen for more than two hours fought one of the worst apartment fires seen here in years.

With families separated in the mad flight for safety, others trapped by flames and choking volumes of smoke on upper balconies, the scene was bedlam for a while.

Most of the occupants of the first two floors owe their escape to Henry Fagan, who was resting in his room. He ran from suite to suite, pounding on doors.

Outside the building, the street was as black with smoke fumes as even in the open air breathing was difficult. Half-fainting men and women were carried out of the building by equally affected fire fighters who risked their lives in dashing up and down stairs to see the occupants of some fifteen suites had vacated their premises.

From European countries, agricultural laborers entered Canada during the first half of the present year to the number of sixty-five, only fifty in the fiscal year 1931-32, and 12,118 in the preceding year.

TARIFF BOARD'S DECISIONS AWAITED

St. Ives, Cornwall, Eng., Feb. 3.—Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, told an audience here yesterday evening Canada was feeling the effects of the business depression in the United States and that until prosperity returned to the United States the Dominion could not prosper.

Success of the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreements signed at the Ottawa conference last summer, Mr. Runciman said, depended on the operation of the new Canadian tariff board. "It is a good board, impartial and broadminded, and shows insight, undoubtedly they can within their own limits add a good deal to Anglo-Canadian trade," he declared. "Our own tariff committee is absolutely free from all political influence. We only ask that the Canadian committee should be similarly free."

We only ask that the Canadian committee should be similarly free."

MAN FIGHTS OFF BANDITS

Police discovered a stolen car parked a block away and believe the bandits intended to escape by it.

Such a scheme, with municipal notes at all times through the next eight months, would provide the municipal treasury with an aggregate revenue, he considered. The scheme would also tend to lessen the number of tax bills unpaid because of lack of money towards the close of the year.

Councillor H. D. Cotton was informed that payment of interest was not contemplated, and commented that earnings of 6 per cent would make the scheme more attractive. Heve Crouch considered that most of those taking advantage of the scheme would be earning interest, like the city's Hummel Interest Bonds. Anyone holding them could cash them in for payment of taxes or services," he explained.

Councillor G. A. Eden supported the proposal as an aid to working men to pay their tax bills in small instalments.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The petition from Doukhobors at Blaine Lake, Saskatchewan, asking that their leader, Peter Verigin, be deported to a land of his own choosing, rather than to Russia, cannot be complied with, it was stated by immigration officers at the department here to-day. The deportation will go through at previously arranged with Verigin sailing from Halifax to-morrow for Russia.

The Minister of Immigration stated he had no latitude or choice in the matter. A deportee must be sent to the land of his origin, he said.

The fire was discovered by M. L. Smith, male nurse, who spread the alarm. Two nurses, Mrs. Ethel Craig and Miss Florence Farrell, quickly led seventeen women sleeping in the three upstairs rooms down the stairs.

C.C.F. DEBATED BY TWO SIDES

Monday Commons Will Return to Discussion of Woodsword's Resolution

U.F.A., Independent, Labor and Conservative Members Heard Yesterday

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—Debate on the resolution of J. S. Woodsword, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, calling on the government to establish a co-operative commonwealth in Canada, brought out the views of ten members of the Commons yesterday afternoon and evening.

Both sides will have a chance to think up further arguments over the week-end, for today the House turned from private members' resolutions to government business.

GARLAND'S VIEWS
E. J. Garland, U.F.A., Bow River, who had the floor when the House adjourned yesterday afternoon, opened the discussion yesterday afternoon. He asked the House if a state which was not founded on justice and equity could long survive. History indicated the contrary, income taxpayers in Canada and in the United States represented only a small percentage as compared with non-income taxpayers, Mr. Garland stated. This illustrated the contrast in wealth between a very small class with all the money and a very large class with none on which to pay an income.

He condemned what he termed the "racketeers" who exploited the natural resources of this country. Canada was responsible for making the "greedy creditor" individual a useful citizen. Quoting widely from published opinions of various British economists, Mr. Garland outlined a condition of affairs which he said might be described as "Utopian" but which could be largely brought into being in Canada, he thought. He would reform the present system so to improve its framework that it would "inure to the public good."

He challenged any member opposite to show him a better way out of the present difficulties.

"What do you think about it—you have given us other people's views? What are your own?" came a cry from the opposition.

The aims of the C.C.F. would be carried out and we are going to have the opportunity of doing it," declared Mr. Garland.

OWNERS LOSE

Private ownership of farms had decreased by some 32 per cent in the last ten years, Mr. Garland proceeded, while the total value of farm properties had declined by $1,025,000,000 during that time. The average decrease in value per farm was $1,495, and reports from one third of the farms in Canada showed they carried mortgages amounting to $677,000,000.

In a country rich in resources and knowledge, containing all things needed for the happiness and security of the people, it was unthinkable, Mr. Garland concluded, to accept the present conditions of want and idleness.

J. R. MacNicol, Conservative, Toronto Northwest, declared the resolution presented to the House by the C.C.F. was a "red herring" and a "hoax."

The great changes which were urged by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation were to be brought about in an orderly manner, but the people did not want them then. These changes would be jammed down their throats. That was the interpretation given Mr. Woodsword's speech by the C.C.F.

Canada would not accept any such changes as the C.C.F. proposed and as were proposed in the resolution, Mr. MacNicol declared. The farmers would not accept them.

BOURASSA SPEAKS

Announcing he would oppose the resolution, Henri Bourassa, Independent, Quebec, plunged into a characteristic attack on both the capitalist and co-operative systems. He believed the solution of the difficulties of Canada and countries similarly situated would be found in a combination of the best features of both.

He would not challenge the statements of the co-operative group as to the seriousness of the situation. But neither would he admit the remedy rested in a system that would take away the individual liberty of the people or disturb the constitution. It would be impossible to have the co-operators under the present economic system, Mr. Bourassa agreed.

Mr. Bourassa offered some advice to the government. "Do not raise the bogey of Bolshevism," he said. "The bogey of Bolshevism is the worst enemy of the present economic system."

Mr. Bourassa, former leader of the Quebec Nationalists, the Canadians, people, when new ideas were offered, would not be satisfied with denunciations. The government must alleviate from present conditions, he said.

Wendell G. Wilson, Conservative, Winnipeg, Ont., said he was opposed to accepting the invitation of any party, the ultimate goal of which was chaos.

Not many of the Conservative members were induced to make any expression of opinion until they had full details of the question, Mr. Wilson said.

MACINNIS SPEAKS

"Either you have to reconstruct the competitive system and make it work or you must adopt the co-operative system—and that is all we mean by Socialism," said Angus MacInnis, Labor, St. John's, Nfld.

He expressed the view that constitutional objections raised to the establishment of a new system should not be regarded too seriously. Even Conservatives, he said, ignored the constitution when they were particularly anxious to get something done. For instance, at the time of the Winnipeg strike, Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen had sent a telegram in which he suggested deporting strike leaders and talking about it afterward. If it should prove necessary later on to arrest Mr. Meighen and others, remarked Mr. MacInnis humorously, there would be a precedent for acting first and talking after.

IRVINE'S VIEWS

William Irvine, U.F.A., Wetaskiwin, said the purpose of the C.C.F. divided the movement from the government and the Liberal opposition. "It is an issue even throughout the world and will be an issue in the next general election in Canada," he said. Why were Liberals so quiet in the debate he asked.

Some of the purposes of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation

WILL LEAD NEW DAILY OPPOSITION

will public ownership in place of private ownership, co-operation in place of competition, recognition of the priority of human beings over property rights, and international peace, he said.

The first principle of the co-operative commonwealth would be "planning," Mr. Irvine said. Then, would follow "nationalization or socialization of natural resources."

Under the present system the banks decided who would get credit and who would not. In the past they had decided in their own interests but not in the interests of the people, Mr. Irvine said, although he did not blame the banks. They were conducted as the system required them to be conducted.

DEMOCRACY ON TRIAL

It was democracy that was on trial, not capitalism, said J. Earl Lawson, Conservative, West York, Ont.

The ultimate object of the C.C.F. was to set up in this country a complete control, the Conservative asserted. Analyzing the principles of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Mr. Lawson said he was justified in coming to the conclusion that "co-operative commonwealth" is communism—without bloody revolution, if you will, but communism just the same.

If anyone in the house or in the constituency wanted to know where he stood, Mr. Lawson continued, he would enlighten them to this point—that he stood for capitalism as an economic system as against communism.

"Communism can make rich men poor, but it can not make poor men rich," said Mr. Lawson. "If you can show me a system which will make poor men rich I will support it."

WOODSWORTH'S POSITION

Attacks on Mr. Woodsword in the house would receive little sympathy at large, said H. E. Spencer, U.F.A., Hastings. Many people in Canada regarded Mr. Woodsword as the greatest private member in Parliament. At every election, Mr. Woodsword was opposed by communists. If his policies were identical with communism that would not be so.

Mr. Spencer called attention to the growing burden of unpaid debt in the form of government and municipal obligations and farm mortgages as an evidence of the breakdown of the present economic system.

G. R. Geary, Conservative, South Toronto, spoke briefly.

NEILL SPEAKS

The recent warning given by the Prime Minister that this country was approaching the limit of taxation was one that should be given attention, said A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberta. It was easy in these days to find people with solutions for the present conditions. This resolution, however, was enfeebled by its very comprehensiveness. It took in the pauper and the millionaire. The Conservative and the Communist met here on common ground.

A number of admirable principles were expressed in the resolution; but one, referring to "production for use instead of for profit," was pure socialism, he said. For his part he was completely unimpressed as to what the resolution would lead to and he could not very well return to his constituents and tell them he had landed them in something "the end of which God only knows."

There were farmers who desired cheap labor and high prices for food, and laboring men who sought high wages and cheap food. It would be difficult to reconcile the two divisions, he believed.

The debate will be continued on Monday by R. K. Anderson, Conservative, Hamilton, Ontario.

FORD PLANTS TO WORK NEXT WEEK

Associated Press
Detroit, Feb. 3.—With automobile bodies in increasing numbers being trucked from the Briggs Manufacturing Company's plants to the Ford Motor Company's Dearborn plant, indications to-day were that assembly lines in the Ford plants would be moving again early next week, probably Monday.

One hundred workers were recalled yesterday evening by the Ford Company, and it was indicated employees would be moving back in small numbers during the remainder of the week, as the various departments opened up.

Briggs officials said approximately 4,000 men were working in their plants. Some 6,000 were at work when the strike began last week.

THINNING OUT HOBBES

Reading, Pa., Feb. 3.—Berks County's model prison goes in for too much hair-cutting to suit the country's hobbies. A recent requirement that prisoners have their hair clipped has cut the number of voluntary inmates in half and saved the county a tidy sum.

LOWER ELECTION COSTS ARE URGED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—Appointment of a committee to study election machinery will be urged in the Senate by Senator W. E. Foster, Liberal, New Brunswick. He gave notice yesterday of his intention to move for a special committee. "In view of the abnormal cost both to candidates and the country of federal elections," he will advise the committee make recommendations with a view to reducing these costs.

The Senate yesterday adjourned until Monday evening.

TEACHERS GET HIGHER PAY

Reeve Crouch Submits Statement to Saanich School Board

All Saanich school buildings will have to weather 1933 without repainting, despite the fact that this maintenance work has been heavily reduced in recent years. Elimination of exterior painting, one of the principle economies effected this year by the school board, will be supported by drawing of many other headings, the board being anxious to avoid increasing its tax requirements.

Salaries will not be dealt with until the board has held a conference with the teachers, when it is expected the trustees will present a salary analysis by Reeve Crouch. This shows a majority of the teachers employed in 1930 are now being paid higher salaries than were then in effect.

NO REDUCTION

Reeve Crouch's statement, presented to the board on Wednesday evening, is as follows: "There is one item of school expenditure which we would like particularly to bring to your attention. There has been considerable talk of reductions in teachers' salaries, but an examination of the payroll discloses that this is not the case. On your present teaching staff there are forty-eight teachers who were employed in January, 1930. In so far as these forty-eight teachers are concerned, a comparison of the payroll for January, 1930, and January, 1933, discloses the following: Seventeen of these teachers have been reduced and thirty-one have had an increase, the net result is that the forty-eight teachers received a total of $118.47 per month more in January, 1933, than in January 1930."

The estimated cost of fuel for schools last year was $2,340.25. This figure was reduced to $2,800 for 1933. Supplies were estimated to cost $4,500 in 1932, and $3,500 in 1933. Repairs primarily estimated to cost $4,370, were reduced by $720. The medical service was reduced from $3,800 to $2,500, on a par with last year.

ROOSEVELT WANTS TARIFFS LOWERED

Will Make Holiday Cruise Before Taking Office as United States President

Warm Springs, Ga., Feb. 3.—President-elect Roosevelt has fixed his policy and his first executive order, and to-night he will head for the open seas to enjoy a last vacation before assuming the office of President of the United States.

At the moment, the President-elect is in a state of mind to take the first move of the new Democratic President. He will hear separately the pleas of the numerous departments for relief and demand in return for aid a definite assurance by them of efforts for tariff reform and currency stabilization.

He is presently to call an extra session of the new Congress if the present "lame duck" congress fails to finish its job. Farm relief, balancing of the budget, severe economies and government reorganization will be the goal of the extra session.

Mr. Roosevelt's ten-day cruise will be made on Vincent Astor's palatial yacht, the Albatross. Mr. Roosevelt, son of the late Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt and fifth cousin of the President-elect, and a number of others will make up the party.

EXECUTION IN TORONTO TO-DAY

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 3.—Ewart Warren was hanged here this morning for the murder of Dr. W. G. More, Parkdale dentist.

Warren was sentenced to death after he had shot Dr. More during an attempted hold-up last October. Harold More, a constable, was also killed in the life in the Portmouth Penitentiary for armed robberies and his part in the More shooting.

NOTED FRENCH DUCHESS DIES

Dowager Duchess d'Uzes Was Staunch Advocate of Women's Rights

Dampierre, France, Feb. 3. (Associated Press)—The Dowager Duchess d'Uzes, advocate of women's rights, died today.

WOLF LIEUTENANT

The Dowager Duchess d'Uzes was a woman of infinite attractions. The defence of women's rights, sculpture, writing books and plays, the mastery of a pack of deer hounds, were among the things that occupied her hours, but nothing in her crowded life pleased her more than being appointed, in 1923, "Wolf Lieutenant."

The day when every district in France had an official master of a pack of hounds to protect it from damage by wolves has gone but the office remains, and those appointed thereto now give their attention to protecting agriculture from inroads by wild boars, badgers, weasels, otters and crows.

The duchess was the first woman to be sworn in as a public functionary, before a judge and a public prosecutor. She was given the same powers to summon and arrest people as are exercised by the police, military and gendarmerie. There is no salary attached to the appointment, the nominees are expected in fact to be in a position to keep a pack of hounds, but they are allowed the privilege, not more than twice a month, of hunting wild boar in the state forest of their districts.

A special uniform goes with the appointment, so that the duchess, as the first woman ever appointed, had to devise one for herself. She adopted a very short blue skirt, with a jacket, like a man's hunting jacket, with large pockets.

She could display the ribbons of many orders on that jacket, as the duchess was Knight of the Legion of Honor, Knight of Agricultural Merit, Commander of Saint Sepulchre, Knight of Serbian Charity, and had received the French medal for nursing the wounded, and Queen Elizabeth's war medals.

Anne, Duchess d'Uzes, was born in Paris, in February, 1847. She belonged to the Mortemart family and was related to other famous families in the history of France, the Montmorencies and the Cheignes.

She had four children, two of whom predeceased her: Jacques, Duke d'Uzes, who died when exploring the Congo; and a son, the Duke of Nemours, who married the Duke of Luynes, Louis de Crussol, the present duke, and the late Mathilde de Crussol, Duchess de Bassano.

It was greatly due to the duchess's influence that the women's club, the Lyceum, was able to open in Paris, as the police authorities looked with disfavor on the information.

A dozen studies of her work are scattered around France, mostly in churches. Among her writings were two novels, a drama, and a book on the history of France in the Congress.

She presided at the Women's International Congress in Paris, 1926.

Debt Adjustment Bills Listed As Most Important in Saskatchewan

Associated Press
Regina, Feb. 3.—With every prospect of becoming known as the "deb adjustment session," the 1933 sitting of the Saskatchewan Legislature were formally opened yesterday afternoon.

Leading events of the year were reviewed in the speech from the throne read by Lieutenant-Governor H. E. Munroe and, as expected, legislation in respect to debt adjustment and consolidation of arrears of taxes was forecast.

While general retrenchment in public expenditure was mentioned, it was made clear all services essential to public health would be maintained without undue curtailment.

It is expected six weeks will bring prorogation.

At present thirty bills are ready for presentation and at least twenty more are in various stages of preparation.

At the opening last year it was estimated forty bills would be introduced, but the number has dropped to thirty. With more than 200 sections the new legislation referring to companies will be the longest and one of the most important.

Debt adjustment measures will be by far the most important.

USE SHEEP SKIN FOR NEW SCRIP

Associated Press
Heppner, Ore., Feb. 3.—Sheepskin money may link the present with the beaver skin bartering of pioneer days. An issue of scrip, not to exceed $10,000 and printed on sheepskin, is planned by Heppner officials. It would be good advertising, they say, since sheep raising is one of the principal industries of the county. Mayor Gay M. Anderson has appointed a committee to perfect plans.

WORDS SOUND WELL, BUT ACTION IS WANTED

Through Captain Anthony Eden, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Great Britain made it clear at today's meeting of the World Disarmament Conference that the British government is not disposed to undertake any new engagements to buttress security on the continent of Europe. This announcement followed pronouncements yesterday by the German and Italian representatives rejecting or fundamentally criticizing the French thesis that arms reduction must wait upon conclusions of additional pacts guaranteeing security.

"In the search for new safeguards for peace," Captain Eden said, "we must not overlook those which already exist. There is first, for those of us who are members of the League of Nations, its covenant, which is expressly binding upon us all. There is next the Pact of Paris, to which almost every government in the world has subscribed. There is, finally, for certain countries of Western Europe, the Treaty of Locarno. The importance of the guarantee given by that Treaty may seem by comparison light in some countries. They do not seem to me mine. It would be a mistake to underestimate the significance of the Locarno Treaty." This was the agreement in which Germany and France pledged themselves not to go to war to settle any dispute which might arise between them.

In spite of the provisions of this pact, the pact pledging the abolition of war as an instrument of national policy, and the express obligations contained in the Covenant of the League of Nations, France still insists that she be guaranteed further against aggression from other countries, chiefly Germany. Persistence in this attitude is practically a notice to the rest of the powers that not only is she not inclined to support a real programme for disarmament—unless it be to disarm the other fellow—but also that she places little stock on the League of Nations or the force of the pacts referred to.

As Captain Eden also very properly pointed out, European disarmament would be an effective guarantee for European peace. "This," he said, "is an experiment which I believe world opinion would wish us to make, and which economic forces soon will compel us to undertake. The time has now come to quit talking disarmament and to begin acting disarmament." It is difficult for us on this side of the Atlantic to understand how Europe expects it can continue to spend billions of dollars on armaments without an explosion sooner or later. The taxpayer is the most patient animal in the world; but unless governments mend their ways and lighten his burden, he will find a way of doing it himself, and the operation will be a drastic and painful one while it proceeds.

NICKEL—CANADIAN PRODUCTION

Great progress has been made in recent years in the expansion of the peace time market for nickel. The result stands out prominently in the contrast between the decrease in production after the war and the relatively higher range maintained during the present depression. The war effort of 1918 marked the record of nickel production up to that time. In the years that followed the output dropped to less than half the pre-war figure, while for 1931, after two years of disturbed world trade, production was nearly three-quarters of the war record.

The highest output of nickel in Canada before the war was 49,676,772 pounds in 1913. It dropped slightly in 1914 and then rose in 1918 to 92,507,293 pounds. Afterwards the decline in production was rapid and in 1922 it had fallen to 17,597,123 pounds. From this low figure there was a fairly steady rise up to 1929, when a new record of 110,275,912 pounds was reported. Again there was a process of decline, the output in 1930 being 103,768,857 and in 1931 65,666,320 pounds. Even after this considerable drop, however, the output in 1931 was still nearly four times that of 1922.

A wide variety of uses combined to maintain the higher demand for nickel in the last few years. To it contributed the automobile industry, electrical machinery, cooking utensils, new submarine cables and various nickel alloys. The trend to wider uses has been specially noticeable in the case of nickel steel, when the amount of nickel used per ton of alloy steel produced in the United States increased about twenty-five per cent in 1931 compared with 1930. One of the most interesting new nickel products introduced during 1931 was nickel-clad steel plate, which made its entry into several fields, such as storage tanks and cars, evaporator bodies, chemical autoclaves and similar products.

During the last few days a large number of improvements have been made in the methods of the nickel industry in Canada. New plants have been constructed, improved processes have been put in operation, and the treatment of nickel has been carried to a more advanced stage in the Dominion. Following the union of the International Nickel and the Mond companies in 1928, an extensive programme of improvement was undertaken by the new International Nickel Company of Canada. Among the improvements a new smelter was built at Copper Cliff and extensions were made to the refinery at Port Colborne. During 1931 the Orford process, or the first stage of separating the matte into copper "tops" and nickel "bottoms," was transferred to Copper Cliff from Port Colborne. Additions were also made to the company's plants in the United States and Great Britain, particularly to the platinum metals refinery at Acton, London.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN AND THE WAR DEBTS

It is to be hoped in the various capitals that Mr. Neville Chamberlain's utterances on the subject of Britain's debt to the United States and the forthcoming negotiations between the British and Washington governments will not have a prejudicial effect. Sir Ronald Lindsay, Britain's ambassador to the United States, conferred the other day with President-elect Roosevelt and left for London immediately to report to the government at Westminster, and to explain the neighboring republic's position.

Mr. Chamberlain's remarks, however, that the forthcoming conference between British and United States representatives will not be a "great swapping deal" have caused speculation in Washington as to whether his views on the matter reflect the opinion of the government of which he is a member. In his dispatch to The Vancouver Daily Province from the United States capital, Mr. C. O. Smith says "every government department feels that he (Mr. Chamberlain) has upset the apple cart," while the press "very generally takes the same position."

Although Canada's interest in the settlement of the debt question is not direct, the economic recovery of this country depends to a considerable extent on the recovery of the United States, and recovery in the United States will be slow unless there shall be a general revision of the war debts, a new deal in tariffs, and, of course, less expenditure on arms. This is all the more reason why influential statesmen in Europe and the United States should avoid provocative or ill-considered statements which may imperil the debt negotiations and the World Economic Conference which is to follow them.

What the governments of other countries think the United States ought to do about these war debts, in their own interest and in the interests of the world in general, should not be permitted to obliterate the fact that the taxpayers of the republic are no more easy to convince that it is their duty to accept the loss which cancellation or a still further scaling down would involve than the taxpayers of this or any other country who might be in a similar condition.

The official attitude at Washington is that those nations which met their December instalments were entitled to present their cases for further consideration. For that reason invitations have been sent to the various governments involved and have been accepted. To anticipate the nature of the formula that may be employed, as set forth by Mr. Neville Chamberlain, does not, as far as Great Britain is concerned, tend to create the most favorable atmosphere for the negotiations.

WILLING TO BE CRUCIFIED

Before making too many promises to the German people, Chancellor Adolf Hitler ought to consider the case of Premier Bennett, and read some of the speeches that gentleman delivered throughout Canada in the summer of 1930.

Hitler asks for four years of power in which he thinks he can solve his country's economic and other problems. And he challenges his countrymen to "crucify" him or "do anything else" to him if his policies by that time have not proved successful.

Mr. Bennett, of course, was going to solve unemployment or "perish in the attempt." That problem is many times greater now than it was when the promise was made—and neither Mr. Bennett nor his government has perished so far.

Perishing politically, however, would not be as painful for Mr. Bennett as crucifixion would be to Chancellor Hitler. The latter's suggestion of what might be done to him in case of failure no doubt is meant figuratively; but some of the six million Communists may take him at his word. The "red" elements in Germany are bitter foes of the Nazis and frequent conflicts have resulted in many cracked heads and dozens of fatalities.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

RETRENCHMENT IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The St. John Telegraph-Journal

The need for a definite right-about-face in regard to public expenditures in this province is not a matter of choice, but of self-preservation. We recognize that the task will be unpleasant, and that there will be all sorts of protests, but the job is here to do and the real test of statesmanship for some time hereafter will not be an ability to squander money but to save it.

THE GERMAN TREATY

The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix

Announcement of the signing of a temporary trade treaty with Germany is welcome news to Canadians, even though the list of Canadian exports coming under the reduced tariffs is extremely limited and does not include that most important of commodities, wheat. The present treaty seems to be a definite step towards removing trade restrictions. If the government continues working in that direction there is hope that Canada may emerge from its difficulties to some extent and there will be some improvement in trade generally, although a full measure of prosperity cannot be expected until such time as satisfactory markets are found for wheat.

THE FARMER'S YEAR

The New York Times

For the American farmer 1932 was a year of singular misfortune. Most observers agree in identifying the chief difficulties of the present situation. Foreign markets which once absorbed surplus American production have been barred by new tariffs and "quota" systems. There has been no reduction of acreage in this country adequate to readjust output to demand. On the contrary, as Frederick E. Murphy points out in the current number of The Review of Reviews and World's Work, the government is actively engaged in bringing new acreage into production. The result has been a piling up of surpluses which have persistently depressed prices.

A THOUGHT

Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine upon thy sanctuary that is desolate, for the Lord's sake. Daniel ix 17.

Lenity has almost always wisdom and justice on its side. —Hosea Ballou.

Loose Ends

We slip in numbers as the numbers come—but they're really too tremendous—Another idea is launched into the world—Mrs. Glumby drops a hint—and Colonel Blossom preaches patriotism.

By H. B. W.

COSMIC OUTLOOK

THE BLAND admission of the Technocrats that they may have been a few million times out in their calculations about machinery, but that the main idea is, right anyway, is a symptom of a curious disease which has afflicted the human animal of late years. He has lost the sense of numbers. Before the war a million dollars was a large sum. People spoke of it with respect. But since the reparations and war debts business got under way your plumber and garbage man can bust off billions about as easily as he can hurt wrenches or garbage. What are a string of 00000000000's of billions? Canada's debt has increased $200,000,000, or is it $2,000,000,000 or $20,000,000,000? What does it matter? The thing is that it has increased. That satisfies us now-a-days.

THE NEWSPAPERS state that 45,000 Russians have been banished to Siberia. Within a day or two most of the public of America will know positively that 4,500,000 Russians have been banished to Siberia. Mr. Bennett, it was announced, had contributed $750,000 to the last Conservative campaign fund. George P. Udby assured Mr. Beak in a heated argument to-day that Mr. Bennett had given the fund $7,500,000, and he considered it a mark of the highest virtue. Now that astronomy is growing popular, now that we read of Einstein and the others talking in trillions, the ordinary man can hardly tell the difference between ten cents and ten dollars. When the Technocrats say that a new machine turns out an article 10,000 times as fast as the old machine, and it is discovered that it turns out the article only ten times as fast, no one complains at this slight inaccuracy. We are too enlightened to squabble over details. We do things in a big way. We have the cosmic outlook. Unfortunately we haven't a cosmic income. Something should be done about that.

DULL IDEA

THE LIFE history of an idea is a curious business. It is at once the most delicate and the most enduring of all things. It turns out the article disembodied process of "somebody's" mind, and yet more powerful, more difficult to stop than a tidal wave. Pay little attention to the manoeuvrings of politics and the calculations of economists—watch the underlying ideas, how they grow from tiny beginnings like a seed, until they have spread all over the landscape and cannot be ignored.

IT WOULD be enlightening if the great ideas of history could be subjected to clinical examination to see how their seed first fell, how they started to sprout, were ruthlessly cut down by Roman soldiery, the executioners of the Inquisition or the barbarous kings of early England; how, for example, the notions of the Roman stone cutter, named Socrates, rudely suppressed in his time and flagrantly distorted by his pupil and executor, Plato, suddenly burst through the earth again, centuries later, and founded all modern philosophic thought; how the theories of Christianity, launched in the most unpromising part of the world, among a small tribe on the borders of the Roman Empire, swept all over the globe, and still survive despite even the misguided efforts of many of their friends; how the scientific views of one Thales or Miletus, which no one paid any attention to, traveled west, were picked up by the Arabic professors in Spain, were carried to Paris and were expounded to American scientists in convention assembled the other day with a few elaborations in detail.

IT GROWS

WELL, THIS is a long and impressive introduction to a dull and relatively unimportant subject. An idea is apt to carry one away like that. What I am getting at, is the idea of reducing the interest rate on government borrowings in Canada, which, you will agree is a far cry from Socrates, Thales and Christianity. But the process, even in this small matter, is the same. Observe how the idea is sprouting, growing, spreading over the country. A few months ago when I ventured the notion in this column that Canada could not continue to pay increasing interest rates in dollars of increasing value while its means of paying were steadily declining, several people said I was getting really a good friend for a responsible society. A few months ago I had better look out lest I destroy the country's credit. A minister of state said I should stick to the activities of the little girl next door and not meddle in larger matters which only men like him understand.

I DON'T MEAN that I planted this seed. It had long since flowered in Britain and Australia and many other countries. But observe how it was little noticed and regarded with horror here within six months. Now I find it in Saanich. And on the very same day over in Vancouver Harold Brown, former president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, a captain of industry, a conservative business man, demanding exactly the same thing. In Ottawa Mr. Bennett tells our own Mr. Jones that he won't stand for it; precisely as the Athenians said they wouldn't stand for the notions of Socrates and the people of Miletus pooh-poohed their fellow citizen Thales, and Canute the Great told the roiling seas that they were relatively unimportant things, thus turning down of interest rates, but it is an idea, and as such, its progress is interesting. Watch it grow. Watch it spread on the friendly ground of public approval. It has started now. I predict that nothing can stop it, for the reason that it is not governmental policy, but a movement of the people, a political principle. It is something much more difficult to get hold of and stop. It is an idea.

GREAT DOCUMENT

I HAVE BEFORE me as I write a document of some importance. It represents the collective wisdom of this neighborhood so you can see that it must be very wise. The little girl from next door conceived the idea of compiling it for what purpose? I cannot imagine. Anyway she got hold of a large piece of notepaper, ruled it off into irregular squares, and carrying it to every house in the district, insisted that they contribute to it. It is a very notable sentiment in one of the squares. Just write anything—it doesn't matter so long as it's nice, the little girl said. Nor did it matter, since she said, "I'll be sure to see that the sentiments, as you will surmise, were notable. The little girl is very proud of them, having no idea of their contents, but she has brought them over for me to see what a fine collection they make."

TUSUS IN the large round hand of Mrs. Glumby I read: "I like little girls but some mothers haven't got the consideration for to keep them home instead of roaming about the neighborhood in the morning when people are busy." Mr. Beak, having just paid his chicken feed bill, stated in his square that "the capitalistic system is on trial and it'll be found guilty if it doesn't look out." Colonel Blossom, seeking to mediate good principles in your minds, wrote "God Save the King" with a blue pencil and repeated it to the little girl several times so that there should be no mistake about it; and according to her account, she replied: "Is the King sick or dropped or anything?" And Colonel Blossom retorted that he had always suspected the patriotism of the people next door and he wondered what kind of children they were likely to raise.

MR. WHIFFLETON, doubtless expecting the document to be preserved for history and suspecting the young man next door of Conservatism, wrote: "The government has not got no chance of getting elected again." Miss Snipe, the spinster lady up the hill, who never wearies in preaching Christian precepts to the little girl, carefully wrote in ink: "Boast not thyself of to-morrow. Thou knowest not what a day may bring forth." Which I considered a cheerful idea at a time like this. And Mr. Pudgey, who has been a student in his square under the name of "O.K. Christian soldier," said the little girl next door: "those are nice sentiments, all right. I like them. But what is a sentiment, anyway?" But by the time I had tried to explain, she said she guessed she would be going home because supper seemed more promising.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO CITY BLIND

Tribute to the work being done by the blind of Victoria in basketry and other handicrafts they have been able to take up, was paid by Miss Amy Leigh, field worker for the western division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind at the completion of a three-day survey, here yesterday.

Miss Leigh visited the homes of fifteen afflicted people and remarked upon the cheerfulness she had found in them.

Recently, Miss Leigh stated, the institute had taken over from the Federation of the Blind the Pandora Home in Vancouver, where elderly blind people were kept. Great work was being carried on in the field of blindness, she said. It had been shown statistically that 50 per cent of cases suffering from that affliction were preventable.

LAUDS LOCAL TEACHER

Miss Leigh spoke of the inspiring work being done by Miss Dorothy Stark, local home teacher, who has been spreading cheer and hope among the blind here by teaching them basketry, typing, Braille, Montyette and providing them with interests which may be appreciated by those without sight. Not only did the Victoria teacher provide them with work, but she added to their spirit of hope by her splendid work, Miss Leigh said.

She touched upon the activities of the broom and whisk factory in Vancouver, along with the basket factory there for men.

in the future book for the $50,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, as completed by Hingmiller-William Koch. He was quoted at 2½ to 1 and even money in the place and show positions. The crack thoroughbred, sired by Sir Calhoun III, also has been assigned top weight of 134. Plucky Play, from the same stable, originally was assigned 196, but Church decided to withdraw its name. Plucky Play, half-brother of Lap, which was brought here from New Zealand by D. J. Davis, is in the handicap, and Boy-Falate, imported from England by Lord Towne, of San Francisco, were assigned 10 to 1, 1 to 1, and 2 to 1.

RETIRE FROM ACTIVE REGENCY OF CHAPTER

MRS. R. B. McMICKING

CHAPTER HAS NEW REGENT

Mrs. Colin Cummins Succeeds Mrs. R. B. McMicking in That Office

Sir James and Lady Douglas I.O.D.E. Reviews Year's Activities

After twenty-one years in that office, Mrs. R. B. McMicking gave her valedictory as regent of the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. yesterday afternoon. The fine example of courage and enthusiasm shown by Mrs. R. B. McMicking has encouraged the members to carry on without slackening their efforts, and the members expressed their appreciation and love by making their retiring regent an honorary regent by a standing vote, Miss Josephine Crease presenting her with a lovely corsage bouquet on behalf of her executive, as a tribute of affection.

Mrs. McMicking, in her address, spoke of the twenty-one years during which the chapter has carried on, and the privileges she enjoyed in having been the regent for all those years, and her appreciation of the loyal and loving support given her by her members. She urged that all should work steadfastly and loyally for the order, to build up the undertakings for which the order was founded in 1887, to promote patriotism, education along empire lines and loyalty to King and country.

Officers Elected

Mrs. Colin Cummins was elected regent, by acclamation; first vice-regent, Mrs. C. T. Tensdale; second vice-regent, Mrs. W. Barrowclough; secretary and educational secretary, Mrs. E. C. Hayward; Echoes secretary, Mrs. A. M. Boyd; standard bearer, Miss E. B. Hill; councillors, Mrs. W. J. Goppel, Mrs. Colquhoun Holmes, Mrs. J. S. Flasket, Mrs. Austin Gale, Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs. Edwards, Misses Gill, L. E. Moore and McMicking.

The reports showed that the chapter has carried out its obligations in full, contributions to the educational work of the order being kept up, and the care of soldiers' graves, with wreaths placed on special occasions, contributions to Girl Guide work and the Travelers' Aid of the Y.W.C.A. being the same as in former years, though less money was raised by the chapter owing to stringent conditions.

The educational secretary, Mrs. E. C. Hayward, made a strong appeal for libraries for isolated schools, where good books are of inestimable value to both teacher and scholars, to counteract evil influences. The Echoes secretary, Mrs. A. M. Boyd, spoke of the educational value of the magazine of the order, and was sorry to report a falling off in the number of subscribers. An expression of appreciation was made by the regent to the faithful and valuable work of the standard bearer, Miss E. B. Hill, who has never missed one occasion of valuable members of the order. The conveners of soldiers' graves, Girl Guides and Child Welfare reported the year's activities, the scrutineers, Misses Crease and Mitchell, giving the result of the elections.

At the business meeting held prior to the annual meeting, the regent, Mrs. R. B. McMicking, spoke of the need of valuable members of the chapter to record in one month, and the chapter passed a standing silent tribute to the memory of Mrs. R. P. Tolmie, honorary member to Mrs. Dennis Harris, honorary regent, and to Mrs. J. K. Unsworth, letters of sympathy having been sent to the bereaved families.

The commemoration of the founding of Victoria on March 14, 1843, by a tea at the Empress Hotel, will be honored by the presence of Hon. Randolph Bruce and the chapter's invitation to be present. Members and interested friends are asked to remember the date.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by a committee composed of Mrs. T. Tensdale, Miss J. Crease and Mrs. W. Barrowclough. Miss E. B. Hill, assisting in serving, the chapter presented a welcome guest at the meeting, and joined the members at tea.

A vote of sympathy to the family of Mrs. J. A. McKenna, member of the Diocesan Board of the Catholic Women's League, was called for, and genuine regret at her loss, to the league as well as to her family and friends, was expressed at the meeting. The Victorian-Catholic Women's League last evening in the library of the Bishop's House, with the president, Mrs. W. C. McManus, in the chair.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were read by Mrs. O'Connell and Mrs. E. M. Gavin respectively; the report of the treasurer embodied a detailed statement of the business and was received with appreciation. Mrs. M. E. O'Neill, corresponding secretary, read many letters, including the thanks of the Sisters of St. Ann for sympathy in the loss of Mother Mary Bridget, also an acknowledgment of the proceeds of the very successful card party held by the subdivision in aid of St. Ann's Academy. Mrs. McManus and Mrs. Blair were appointed delegates to the Local Council of Women. Acknowledgments from the Social Service for a cash donation, and from various members remembered during illness, were also read, and a donation to wards new caskets for the acolytes of St. Andrew's Cathedral, was acknowledged with thanks.

Members were reminded of the subscription now due for the Canadian League Magazine. Mrs. Pemberton reported as hospital visitor to the Jubilee Hospital, and Miss Smith for St. Joseph's. Both visitors were thanked and Mrs. Neary and Mrs. Masarati volunteered for St. Joseph's during the coming month, Mrs. Radiger promising to visit the hospital.

Miss O'Brien reported for Social Service, a variety of cases of need in many instances having been satisfactorily dealt with. A vote of thanks to Mrs. A. Grant was moved by Mrs. O'Brien for her kindness in receiving and helping in her home, newcomers and those needing a little assistance. Mrs. Blair kindly took the consering and distribution of good literature and magazines and books, were asked for.

The Man Hunters

By MABEL McELLIOTT

(Copyright by NEA Service)

"I'm not dressed to lunch here," she faltered, peering at her reflection in the mirror. "I'm going to prayer meeting."

"Nonsense," he said firmly. "You look charming and you're lunching here with me."

Susan tapped her book. "I'll be busy," she returned. "Don't worry about me."

Aunt Jessie unbent enough to smile. "That's right," she said. "I'm glad to see you're settling down in a serious way—at last. She couldn't help putting the little sting into the last few words. That was her way."

After she had slammed the front door the house seemed uncommonly quiet. Even the Shaughnessy children across the way weren't making their usual evening racket. The late May evening was still and fragrant as Susan sat in the darkening room poring over shorthand symbols.

As the clock struck eight, she slammed the book shut with vigor. Suddenly it seemed to her an awful thing to be nineteen and vigorous and shut-out between walls on a spring night when the park all around her. She went out on the little porch and sat down in the Boston rocker. Bump, bump, back and forth she rocked. Across the way Millie Shaughnessy was sitting down to her "intended," as Aunt Jessie called him. Millie wore a black and white printed frock that screamed for notice and her hair was flamboyantly red.

"Bye, bye. We're off for White City," she called to Susan. "Bye, bye."

DIOCESE WORK IS DESCRIBED

The extent of the work of the Diocese of Columbia was described by Archbishop E. P. Laycock, in an address yesterday evening in the St. Mary's Parish Hall, Oak Bay.

Lantern slides illustrated his remarks, numerous fine views of Christ Church Cathedral being shown. Taken from angles where the foliage obscured the unfinished portion of the cathedral, the photographs enhanced the architectural beauty of the structure. One interesting view was of the chalice, which, the speaker said, dated back to the seventeenth century, having been made by an Antwerp silversmith. Probably it is the most beautiful chalice in Canada or the United States, he said.

In the course of his remarks, he mentioned that the outdoor pulpit of the cathedral would be used for the first time this year.

Slides depicting the work of the five coast mission boats were also presented. At Alert Bay the Indians demonstrated a great religious fervor, he said, and had not only made their own church self-supporting but contributed to the support of missionary work in other parts.

The lecturer stressed the necessity of financial support on the part of members of the church for the provision of an adequate staff of clergy for the maintenance of this important mission, as well as churches, vicarages and halls.

In introducing the lecturer, the president, Rev. F. H. Buck, expressed the deep regret of the guild and the

ASK WAIVER OF WATER DEBTS

Saanich Council Urged to Aid Relief Workers; Water at Cost

A petition advocating cancellation of arrears of water accounts, owed at December 31 last by relief workers, was presented to the Saanich council yesterday evening by a delegation from the Ward Two Non-political Ratepayers' Association. The petition also requested that water bills sent relief workers this year be for the actual amount of water used, at the net cost to the municipality. The petition was presented by C. H. Underwood, E. C. Wygren and F. Lancaster, who stated they represented 30 residents of the ward.

Mr. Warner explained his organization regarded cost as the seven cents a 1,000 gallons paid Victoria by Saanich.

Councillor Somers said distribution was a cost factor and Mr. Underwood agreed that item should be included in calculations for a revised basis of charges.

Councillor Hagen said the rural wards were not benefited by water service and the waterworks finances should not be weakened to a point where a deficit would have to be made good from general revenue. He said that, which he feared, unimproved, the rural wards were willing that families on relief be accorded all assistance possible.

Councillors Somers and Cotton agreed and the petition was referred to the water committee for report.

Peculiarities of Some of the World's Leading Professional Golfers

Gene Sarazen and George Von Elm Placed in Fiery Class

Macdonald and Horton Smith Are Two of the Big Favorites

HERE'S A BIT of inside dope on the personalities of some of the world's leading professional golfers. Take Paul Runyan, White Plains, N.Y., who captured the Agua Caliente open. Runyan always talks to himself and his ball after a shot. Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente pro, is certain to throw his club in the air when things go wrong. Staid old Macdonald Smith, the Carnoustie Scot, always takes only four-teen "clubs" to the scene of action. Harry Cooper, Chicago, makes his side-draw pack twenty-five clubs around.

In addition to throwing his clubs in the air when he puts a shot, Diegel always drops his hat over the cup when he cages a putt. Diegel keeps the galleries amused at all times, too, with witty chatter, and likes to make wagers with spectators on shots.

Runyan's quaint habit of talking to himself and his ball often has his opponents laughing out loud. "My gosh, didn't I bring you up to go straight," says Runyan after he misses a putt.

"Hit it up, you coward," he says when short with an approach, and "Get in there, sweetheart," on a putt. Although a youngster of twenty-four, Runyan is quite reserved and has a touch of southern drawl.

Charley Guest, a Los Angeles product with a Deal, N.J., address, is the Beau Brummel, and he completes the picture with a cocky attitude that would be hard to beat.

At Epsom, Akron, Ohio, Dick Metz, New Jersey; Willie Griffin, San Francisco, and Archie Hambrick, Zanesville, Ohio, are the most graceful golfers. In the quiet, untroubled class, they discuss their game and aspirations as if there is no such thing as concentration.

In the fiery, volatile class are Gene Sarazen, Florida, and George Von Elm, Los Angeles. Von Elm, as an amateur, was disliked as "crabby," and when Sarazen first won the United States open in 1922 one couldn't talk to him. But both have loosened up in recent years.

A tight-lipped critic of his own game who mutters and mumbles about shots that don't behave is Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, once the British amateur champ and close-up in the big money tournaments this year.

Eddie Lock, Chicago, and Lew Scott, Los Angeles, are great teachers, but Lew doesn't take his own game too seriously. Lock, on the other hand, is inclined to try too hard.

Mac Smith, one of the greater golf artists, never perturbed by what happens and is a big favorite. Horton Smith, of the infectious smile, is also well liked.

Jimmy Thompson, Colorado Springs, hits the most terrific drives of all the pros. But he is like any ordinary duffer when it comes to an approach.

Even if good sense dictates otherwise, Harry Cooper forever tries impossible shots. "If he was a fighter," remarked one Los Angeles sports writer, "they'd call him screwball."

Craig Wood, young Deal, N.J., professional who won three big tournaments on the Pacific Coast last winter, has a battered old brassie that he always uses off the tee. The club has nails driven in its face, and wouldn't bring twenty-five cents at an auction sale, but it's Wood's favorite club.

Fay Coleman, Olin and Mortie Dutra and Fred Morrison are warmest in their friendliness to fellow players and galleries. The favorite of the sports writers is Coleman.

If an unknown player pulls a surprise mile away on the course, and Fay is there, the scribe can get the dope from him. And that's the way the boys go for throwing questions at him.

All-star Elevens In Charity Game At Athletic Park

Two Teams Selected By Fans Will Clash; Mayor Leeming Will Kick-off

TORCHY PEDEN IN ATTENDANCE

Ronnie Williams Replaces Boyd on Second Team; Other Matches To-morrow

To-morrow afternoon will mark the opening of the Kiwanis Club Sports Week with the staging of the Coast Football League's charity match at the Athletic Park, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. The two elevens to meet were selected by the fans at a vote taken at last Saturday's intercity fixture. The players receiving the greatest number of votes were placed on the first team, while those getting the second highest were given positions on the second eleven.

To-morrow is being recognized as "Torchy Peden Day" in honor of Victoria's famous six-day bike rider. Peden will be in attendance at the soccer game and when Mayor Leeming walks to the centre of the field to kick off the ball, Peden will accompany him.

As an added attraction the Victoria Boys' Band will be in attendance to render several selections.

ONE CHANGE

Only one change has been made in the original teams for the match. Bill Boyd was selected for the "centre-half" position on the second eleven, but owing to his absence from the city he will be replaced by Ronnie Williams, Saanich Thistles.

First team: Goal, Louis De Costa, Esquimalt; full-backs, Joe Watt, Esquimalt, and Fred Gibbons, Victoria City; half-backs, Eddie Viggers, Saanich Thistles, Ivan Sweeney, Esquimalt, and Tommy Smith, Victoria City; forwards, Harry Youson, Victoria West, Scotty Stewart, Esquimalt, Scotty Robinson, Victoria, West, Ernie Bettebridge, Victoria West, and Noel Morgan, Saanich Thistles. ## LONDON TECS BEAT BUFFALO

Score 1 to 0 Win and Go Into Tie For International Hockey League Lead

London, Ont., Feb. 3.—London Tecumehs defeated Buffalo Bluffs 1 to 0 here yesterday evening in a hard-fought contest and the victory placed the Londoners in a tie with Bluffs for the leadership of the International Professional Hockey League.

Mike Neville, veteran right-winger, scored the winning goal after two minutes of play in the second period with Gene Gagnon and Lou Gagnon assisting.

Mt. Halliday gave Indians a lead in the first period and though Olympics were able to tie the count on Emil Hansen's goal the invaders moved out in front to stay. Bernie Brophy and Frank Ingram added Cleveland goals and Davis scored the second Detroit counter.

BILL TERRY STILL AFTER NEW PLAYERS

Manager of N.Y. Giants Wants Good Outfielder and Starting Pitcher

Predicts His Club Will Finish Among the First Three in National League

New York, Feb. 3.—Having already battered half his ball club and still in a receptive mood for deals that will give him another experienced outfielder, plus a starting pitcher, Manager Bill Terry of the Giants blew into town yesterday, settled himself behind a fresh cigar and wagged a hat his club will finish among the first three in the forthcoming National League "pennant" race, providing Travis Jackson stages a comeback at shortstop.

"The best two clubs in the league look like Pittsburgh and Chicago," Terry volunteered while being cross-examined as to what he is looking for in the player market, scheduled for a revival over the week-end with a gathering of baseball men here for mid-winter meetings and festivities.

"The Pirates are liable to be especially tough. All the rest will be troublesome, but I do not see how we can be kept out of the first division again unless all the breaks go against us."

SIXTH LAST YEAR

Terry revealed he had failed so far in negotiations with St. Louis for one of a trio of star young Cardinal pitchers—Dizzy Dean, Paul Derringer or Ted Carleton. He will take Darryl Vance off Brooklyn's hands, he says, if he can get the old dandy for a reasonable cash price, but he would rather have Johnny Frederick, Dodger outfielder. So far Brooklyn has spurned all Terry's overtures for Frederick and pretty well closed the door to a possible deal by signing Joe Judge to play first base instead of taking Sam Leslie, Terry's understudy from the Giants.

SEEK WOMEN'S ICE PLAY-OFF

Attempt to Make Arrangements For Canadian Championship Series This Year

Edmonton, Feb. 3.—Western Canadian women's hockey officials are anxious to arrange a Canadian women's hockey championship series. Already J. A. MacNeill, secretary of the Alberta Women's Hockey Association has received assurance that Lady Heshborough, wife of the Governor-General of Canada, will present a trophy to be competed for in a Dominion-wide series.

It was proposed by Mr. MacNeill that Ontario and Quebec decide a winter this year and that team travel west to Banff, Alta., where the final series to determine a Dominion champion could be held at the Banff winter carnival.

Incidentally, Mr. MacNeill says there was no mention of expenses. He was merely feeling out the opinion of the east towards a play-off.

At the present time Edmonton Rustlers are the champion women's hockey team of the west. They have been the title for three years. Respectably, like the Grads in basketball, the Rustlers have defeated fast junior boys' teams. Mr. MacNeill and other officials feel they could defeat any team in Canada.

Junior Football

Teams in the Junior Football League will be engaged in three league matches to-morrow afternoon with the following draw:

Royal Oak vs. Y.M.C.A., at Central Park. Referee, Bridgman.

Oaklands vs. Jokers, at Spencer's Field. Referee, Tobby.

Esquimalt vs. James Island, at Victoria West Park. Referee, Nurse.

All games start at 2:30 o'clock.

A meeting of the executive of the league will be held on Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:30 o'clock. All teams are asked to have delegates present. The league secretary has received word that games in the provincial cup must be played on or before March 19.

Arsenal Will Meet Everton To-morrow

English First Division Football Leaders Will Meet Stiff Opposition

Several Other Good Matches Promised; Scottish Teams Play Cup-ties

London, Feb. 3.—Pitting strong, well-matched teams against each other in several games, to-morrow's First Division schedule promises the most closely contested English League soccer battles in weeks.

Most of the leading teams are guaranteed a heavy afternoon's work by the strong opposition they face, and lesser lights are so evenly matched they should stage contests to rival, in action at least, those the big shots put on.

Three matches between the highly-placed teams should be particularly bright spots in the day's programme. Arsenal, leading the division now by five points over Aston Villa, journey to Everton, where they can be sure to meet stiff opposition; Sunderland and Derby clash at the latter's home grounds, and West Bromwich Albion take on Leeds United in the latter's ballfield.

Aston Villa have the easiest game among the leaders. They play at home to Portsmouth. Sheffield Wednesday are favored to take their neighbors, Sheffield United, into camp, but the match is sure to be close. Blackburn and Birmingham, Blackpool and Manchester City, and Bolton and Liverpool stage other clashes in which the decision may go either way.

AILING PLAYERS BACK

Decline of the influenza epidemic has given most of the teams their ailing players back and strengthened them greatly. Frost, which made the grounds hard for last Saturday's play, has almost entirely disappeared and the pitches are in normal condition.

Arsenal has been resting at Southport all week. Jack, one of their super-stars, has been out of form lately and it is probable he will be given a rest to-morrow. Parkin taking his place, Chelsea, who meet Newcastle United, have been experimenting with Dudley at left wing and it is likely he will make his debut to-morrow. Ferguson is to replace O'Dowd, who has not yet recovered from an attack of influenza.

HARD GAMES

Stoke City and Tottenham Hotspur fighting for first place in the second division, both face tough matches to-morrow, but the probability is they both will win and Stoke retain their one-point lead. Both are away from home. Stoke playing at Port Vale and the Spurs at Southampton. Tottenham are at their strongest, with Rowe and Davies displacing Levens and Howe. Bury should make short work of Grimsby Town and stay right in the hunt for leadership. They now are only two points behind Stoke.

Exeter City and Brentford, tied for leadership in the third division, Southampton and Crystal Palace and Newport County, respectively, Brentford should not have any great

ON LOCAL CARD

San Francisco, Feb. 3.—Ticket applications for the Jackie Fields-Young Corbett welterweight title fight here February 23 poured in in such numbers yesterday those concerned with the promotion of the battle revised previous estimates to predict it would draw one of the largest gates in this section since boxing was legalized in 1925.

The fight actually has not assumed an official status because the promotional boards have not been posted, yet the demand for seats has accounted for some eleven rows.

George J. Putnam, who will promote the afternoon contest in the San Francisco baseball park, said he had arranged for bonds totaling $40,000 and will post them not later than to-day.

RANGERS DRAW WITH MAROONS

Ottawa, Chicago, Boston and Detroit Also Engage in Stalemates

"Forget the past, or win success by wearing blinkers," that old golfing masterpiece by Walter Hagen, or maybe it was Bobby Jones, adorned the library shelves of New York Americans to-day. Yesterday evening, wearing the unpatented "new outlook" of all the unruffled Hagens, Americans turned on Montreal Canadiens and shot a superb 5 to 0 triumph into the records. It lifted New York's spangled men into second place in the Canadian division of the circuit and lifted the spirits of Amerk adherents to a new high.

Bill Brydge, the old Port Arthur sailorman, provided Ronny Martin an opening for the first of two goals in the first period and got the second himself. Wilf Starr scored the third, on Brydge's pass, and Nick Wasnie and Johnny Sheppard shared in the last place on passes from Normie Hines.

Montreal Maroons, needing a win over Rangers to keep abreast of Americans, only managed a 2 to 2 tie at home. Butch Keeling battled a shot past goalie Dave Keir late in the third period to clinch the knot.

Baldy Northcott had scored for Maroons in the first period and assisted Hooley Smith in the second Maroon score. Babe Selbert scored the first Ranger goal.

NEW PENALTY RECORD

Doug Brennan, bumping Ranger defenceman from the Pacific Coast, set up a new penalty record in the second period. He drew two minors, a major for shoving a opponent and a ten-minute misconduct penalty for protesting against the major.

Detroit Red Wings held Boston to a 1 to 1 draw and tied Rangers for first place in the American group. The Wings set up a stern defence to hold Bruins to a deadlock.

Both goals were scored in the first period. Marty Barry netting on a solo rush for Boston and Carl Voss from a pass by Stew Evans.

Ottawa Senators, bolstered on the defence by Harvey Rockburn, held Chicago Black Hawks to a 1 to 1 tie at Ottawa.

Frank Finnigan rammed in Heck Kilrea's pass for the Ottawa goal in the third period and Art Coulter, Hawk defenceman, matched it nine minutes later on a double pass from Tommy Cook and Paul Thompson.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—An overtime period failed to settle a long-drawn-out National Hockey League duel between New York Rangers and Montreal Maroons here yesterday evening, and the game was tied at 2 to 2 when the players went to the showers.

Maroons seemed headed for their fifth straight victory until two minutes from the end of the regular third period, when Butch Keeling scored from a scramble and tied the score.

Maroons took an early lead in the first period, when Baldy Northcott rapped up a goal on assists from Hooley Smith and Jimmy Ward. Babe Selbert tied it up for the New Yorkers on an assist from Cecil Dillon.

A minor penalty and ten-minute misconduct penalty, clamped on Doug Brennan for slashing Art Robinson, crippled the Rangers temporarily, and the Maroons, who were taking advantage of the loss of some stars, should not furnish the same opposition.

While these squads are battling at Canteen Grounds, Fifth Brigade and the Wanderers will try conclusions in what promises to be an exceptional hard fought match at Oak Bay Park. Both squads have improved during the season and will be after victory in the fray. The Wanderers will be most particular over the game in view of their mathematical chances of getting into the play-offs.

The Bays-Navs fixture will start at 3:30 o'clock, while the Gunners-Wanderers match will open half an hour earlier.

In the senior B division Canadian Scottish are listed to take the field against the Bays at the Canteen Grounds at 7:30 o'clock, while the Gunners will play at Victoria High School ground at 8 o'clock. Games are scheduled to work battle with the United Services at Work Point ground at 8 o'clock.

University School Intermediates will tackle the Fifth Brigade at Mount Toimie and Scottish will face College at Oak Bay Park in the two intermediate fixtures billed to start at 8 o'clock.

Some of the teams follow:

J.B.A.A. Seniors—Latta, Hunnington, Dunn, Patrick, Addison, Brown, Stewart, Petticrew, Lemm, Sprinkling, Good, Ford, De Blackquay and Usher.

Scottish Intermediates

Sugden, Forbes, Dunn, H. Anderson, Beck, Stewart, Cunnison, Buckler, Hart, Jay, Adamson, Armour, Turner, Holland and D. Anderson.

ADDFORD SCORES SOFT VICTORY

Hicks, Loney and Dorothy Morley All Advance; Youngsters Display Class

Thirty matches were decided yesterday evening in the Vancouver Island badminton championships, being staged at the Bay Street Armories. Finals will be played to-morrow. Most of the matches were confined to the handicap and junior events, the latter producing some excellent play. Today's programme will see all of the outside players in action. Upwards of forty-five matches, including the semi-finals, are down for decision. Noel Radford, Eric Loney, Harry Webb, Dorothy Morley and Florence Oates all advanced yesterday in the singles events. Miss Oates was hard pressed to win, but the other players advanced with little difficulty.

In the women's singles, Miss Oates defeated Jean Campbell in the best set of the evening. The players were evenly matched, splitting the two sets at 11-8. The third set was a close contest and play saw the score of nine all was reached. At this point, the players were as to how many points would be necessary to complete the match. They played for three points and then found the match was not finished, so played on until the match was won by Miss Oates at 14-13. Dorothy Morley was too strong for Marjorie Benson, former city title-holder. In the men's singles, the gallery saw Eric Loney, Duncan, win in a brief work-out. His play impressed the large gallery. Radford also played one singles and emerged the victor by a wide margin. Harry Webb had a much easier time with Don Peden than he did in the championship, the Willows player only losing eight points in the two sets.

INTERESTING DOUBLES
Radford and Drennan Hicks defeated Peter and George Phillips in the doubles match, 15-6, 15-0, which was crammed full of hard hitting and fine shots. The winners held the city championship and are the most likely pair to reach the final against Twiss and Loney, who are conceded the final bracket in the other half of the draw. This match would provide a great final. There were some fine matches in the junior events. Archibald defeated Leckie-Ewing in a well-played match, 15-10, 15-10.

Two small youngsters, Jimmy Watt and Henry Bennett, put on a good match, Watt winning in straight sets, 15-3, 15-0. Both players, the youngest and smallest in the event, handled their racquets with skill and will be good players in a few years. Watt is being coached by Hicks, while Radford looks after Bennett.

Yesterday's results and to-day's draw follow:

MEN'S SINGLES
H. Webb defeated D. Fish, 15-2, 15-6.
N. Radford defeated R. Phillips, 15-1, 15-8.

WOMEN'S SINGLES
Miss Morley defeated Miss M. Benson, 11-4, 11-3.
Miss Oates defeated Miss J. Campbell, 8-11, 11-8, 14-13.

MEN'S DOUBLES
Radford and Hicks defeated J. Peden and G. W. Phillips, 15-9, 15-9.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES

BABE RUTH IS NOT WORRYING

New York Yankees' Slugger Not Sore Through Being Left Off All-star Team

Is Same Line-up He Picked Himself Last Season; Names His "Greatest" Stars

New York, Feb. 3.—Babe Ruth bore up exceedingly well under the strain of being left out of the 1932 all-star major league team, picked by a consensus of baseball writers. He will remain the highest salaried performer and biggest gate attraction in the game this year, anyway, no matter whether he finally comes to terms in Col. Jacob Ruppert's outside brewery or under the soft Florida skies of St. Petersburg.

"Why should I squawk?" he demanded when the subject of all-star selections was delicately mentioned. "That's the same team I picked myself after last season, so why shouldn't it be okay with me? I put Chuck Klein in right field because he belongs there. I don't see much of him, but the averages show he keeps pretty busy with the Phillies."

Meanwhile Ruth sees no occasion or development calculated to make him change his nomination for an all-star lineup, based upon performances of the past thirty years, two-thirds of which has been under the Babe's earnest scrutiny.

The Babe considers Jackson the greatest "natural" hitter of all time. If there was any exponent of the slugging art Ruth used as pattern at the plate, it was "Shoeshoe Joe." He thinks another ill-fated member of the "Black Sox," Hap Felch, as well as Tris Speaker, outdone Cobb as defensive outfielder, but concedes the center field spot to the Georgian on the strength of Ty's all-around prowess.

HANDICAP MEN'S DOUBLES
Bird and Ridewood defeated Robinson and Flett, 10-15, 15-12, 15-10.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES
Misses Nicholson and Pitts, 15-2, retired.

HANDICAP WOMEN'S DOUBLES
Misses Hughes and Phillips defeated Misses Benson and Thomas, 15-9, 15-14.

HANDICAP MIXED DOUBLES
Miss Hughes and Bagley defeated Miss Ryall and Ryall, 15-10, 15-5.

JUNIOR BOYS' SINGLES

Peden Family Connected With Sport

Torchy Peden, Star of Younger Generation, To Be Honored To-morrow

In Victoria Over Forty-year Period

Forty years active association with sport in the city of Victoria is the record of members of the Peden family. To-morrow one of the younger generation will be honored with the holding of a "Torchy Peden Day" in connection with the first annual Sports Week being held under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club. This is the first of three special days that are being held during the carnival. Next Wednesday will be "Bob Whyte Day" while the following Saturday will be "Lester Patrick Day."

Torchy has achieved great success and is the pride of the Peden clan. Since becoming a professional bike rider, four years ago, the giant red-head has stamped himself one of the greatest bicycle cyclists of all time. He has engaged in no less than twenty-eight of these marathons and has won fifteen. At the present rate he bids fair to shatter all existing records for five-day victories. Torch's father is world-known and he has proven himself an athlete of the highest calibre.

ATHLETIC FAMILY
Torchy comes rightly by his athletic ability as his father and uncles played prominent parts on local playing fields years ago. William Peden, Torch's dad, was noted as a football and basketball player. Thirty-five years ago he performed at outside right for Victoria's football team, one of the finest eleven in the province. He was also a fine basketball player and had quite a reputation as an amateur wrestler.

Alderman Alex Peden, an uncle of Torch's, was a member of the intermediate Wanderers football team which captured the British Columbia championship for five straight years back around 1894. Other well-known members of this club were John Hald, Herb Shandley, J. W. Lorimer, Alderman W. H. Kinsman, Col. W. N. Winsby and L. York. Alex also took part in rowing events as a member of the J.B.A. and played basketball. His last appearance on the soccer field was as a member of the Victoria United team in a match at Work Point Barracks in December, 1906. In addition to his activities on the field, Alex has held many offices in football associations and at the present time is one of the vice-presidents of the British Columbia Football Association.

Bob Peden, another uncle, won fame as a soccer player, being a great centre-half in his younger days and later proving himself a first-class goalie. He also participated in basketball and was a bike rider of no mean ability. He now is a fair golfer.

In addition to Torch there are seven of the younger generation who are taking active part in local athletics. Ernie, Torch's brother, is a first-class diver and rugby player, while Elmer, his sister, is a star swimmer. Douglas, another brother, is a track and field performer, fine basketball player and all-around athlete, and is now taking a fling at bike riding.

Roberta, Bob Peden's daughter, is one of the finest basketball players in the city, and was the leading woman scorer in the city league this season. Beverly and Buster, both sons of Bob, are two fine bicycle riders and have lifted many prizes in local competitions.

The family has established a record in local sport that is without parallel and one to be worthy proud of.

OWN BASKETBALL TEAM
A few years ago the Peden brothers had a basketball team of their own and took many leading Victoria outings into camp.

The boys are the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Peden, and with the exception of Johnny, were all born in Scotland. The Peden family

Vancouver Maroons Win Two Straight

Capture Second Hockey Game From Edmonton Eskimos By 5 to 4 Score

Gene Pusie Stars in Last Period Rally of Maroons With Three Assists

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—A fighting Vancouver Maroons squad firmly entrenched themselves in the hearts of 3,500 Coast hockey fans here yesterday evening when they came from behind in a third period rush to take their second straight game from the Edmonton Eskimos, 5 to 4.

It was a duplication of the first game Tuesday night when the Coast team rammed in three goals in the last period to emerge with a victory.

Big Gene Pusie, sensational scoring Maroon defenceman, continued to be the big noise of the Vancouver attack assisting in each of the final three counters.

Maroons started off strong in the initial period and skated rings around the visitors. Kirk slammed in two goals before the game was seven minutes old. But the second period found the Eskimos taking advantage. Throwing out quick to take advantage. Throwing out quick to take advantage. Throwing out quick to take advantage.

Kest's squad banged in three goals from the thick of Hoffman, Gagne and Scott to take the lead.

EDMONTON TWO UP
Early in the final stanza, Ernie Kenny slipped through to put the visitors two up. Then Pusie started the fireworks. Inside of five minutes he had worked his way through the Eskimos defence and passed to McAdam, Laroche and Sheppard for three goals to give the Maroons the victory.

Thompson played a stirring game in the Vancouver nets, bringing the crowd to its feet with his sensational saves.

HOOP FINALS ON TO-NIGHT

Three Championships Will Be Decided in Games at High School Gym

Basketball play-offs will continue at the High School gym this evening when two city and one Victoria and district championships will be decided. In the first game the Cardinals and Live Wires will hook up in intermediate B girls city final, while Fosters and the Fifth Regiment will clash in the second game in the intermediate B boys division, and the final tussle will bring together the Beavers and Lake Hill in the second game of the Intermediate A series for the Victoria and district honors.

The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock with Art Chapman handling the whistle.

In the first game between Fosters and the Fifth, the former scored a 24 to 16 victory, and are thus favored to lift the crown. In their first meeting the Cardinals and Live Wires battled to a 13 to 13 deadlock. Beavers will just have a workout as they trounced Lake Hill, 65 to 24, in their first meeting. Total points decide the series.

Officials of the Victoria league received word yesterday from Walter Hardwick, secretary of the British Columbia Basketball Association, to the effect that four local referees, Tommy Macedo, Fred Harding, Art Chapman and Alan Le Marquand, had passed their examinations and are now eligible to handle B.C. play-off games.

The Younger Generation Insist That Their Lives Are Theirs to Do With as They Will—And So They Wreck Their Health, and Marry Ne'er-Do-Wells, and Squander Their Money "Because It's Theirs," and Then Come Crawling Home to Be Supported

There is nothing upon which the young are so insistent as upon their right to live their lives in their own way. Seek to control, or even to offer advice warning to any girl or boy, and the retort is hurled back at you: "It's my life, I have a right to live it as I please." Which is a fine, resounding answer, a regular Fourth of July emancipation proclamation of freedom from the shackles that bind and confine.

The only trouble with it is that it is a theory that cannot be translated into fact. No one lives to himself alone. Our lives all interlock, and no one may do with his life what he pleases, because what he does affects his family, his friends, his neighbors, society in general.

The other day I heard a mother leading with her frail and delicate daughter to take better care of her health.

"Oh, for heaven's sake, let me see," cried the girl, irritably. "You're always nagging at me about dancing too much, and staying up too late, and eating too much candy, and not sleeping enough, and I am tired to death of it all. It's my body, and I've got the right to do what I please with it. And if I make myself sick I am the one who has to suffer. I have to endure the pain."

"True," said the mother, "and if you suffered alone you might, perhaps, have the right to wreck your health if you chose, but the difficulty is that you can't suffer alone. You involve so many other people in your catastrophe. When you are sick I pay for it in anguish and anxiety of soul, and in weariness during the long hours in which I watch by your bedside. Your father pays for it by having to work harder to pay hospital bills and nurses' bills and salaried bills. The other children pay for it in being denied some treat they might have had if the money had not gone for one of your 'spells.' And they pay for it in the depressed atmosphere of the home, for sickness is not a cheerful thing to have in the house."

"Some day you will marry and your husband will have to pay for getting a nervous, neurotic woman for a wife instead of a strong and healthy one, and our children will have to suffer in their poor, sickly little bodies or being brought into the world by a mother who had wrecked her own constitution. Oh, no, my dear, you won't be the one who will suffer most if you don't take care of your health, and you haven't any right in the world to make yourself a semi-invalid if you can possibly avoid doing so."

As I listened to this mother I thought of another mother I once heard entreating her daughter not to marry a man who was a dissipated ne'er-do-well.

"Perhaps I am throwing my life away, as you say," the girl said, "but it's my own life, my own happiness that I am risking, and I have the right to take the chance if I want to. I'm the one who has to lie on the bed I make."

And so she married the man and her mother's heart broke as she saw her beautiful and gay young daughter grow old and haggard before her time, as she was dragged down into the gutter by her drunken husband. And at last, when the girl could stand no longer the abuse and neglect and unfaithfulness of the rotter she had married, she came crawling back to mother, broken in health and spirit, and with three little children hanging to her shabby skirts.

The mother had a small income, scraped together for her old age by years of years of self-denial and pinching economies. It would have supported her alone in modest comfort. But with three little children to rear and educate it meant that poor old grandmother had to work her stiff old fingers to the bone cooking and washing and cleaning for these youngsters whose support her daughter had foisted on her. She had to do without all the little comforts that often the rigors of age, because children have so many necessities.

If only in reality the girls who in the passion of youth make such ill-advised marriages, could hear alone the results of their own mistakes, they might have the right they claim to disregard their parents' counsel in the matter and marry whom they please. But it is the parents who have to suffer with them in their unhappiness. It is to poor old father and mother that they come home with their children after the divorce. And it is father and mother who in their old age have to start rearing another family and spending their pittance supporting poor Mr. X's children.

Then there is the case of the X's. Mr. X was a fine business man, always made a lot of money, but he was a spender and a waster. No matter how much he earned he threw it all away. Friends used to remonstrate with him and urge him to save up something for a rainy day.

"Not me," cried Mr. X. "It's my money. I make it, and I've got a right to do as I please with it."

And he did, but evil times came. He fell sick and lost his job. Everything went, and for years and years now Mr. and Mrs. X have been living on the charity of their friends—charity which is given grudgingly, because every one feels that it is dishonest for a man to spend his own money in riotous living and when that is gone, to expect to be supported by people who have acquired their competence by self-denial.

So the proud boast of youth that it has the right to live its own life falls through in the face of experience. The most that we can hope to do is to live our lives so that they will bring as much pleasure and as little pain to others as is possible.

Kings Who Conquered Nations

PETER THE GREAT
When we study the lives of rulers of olden Russia, we may wonder have the finest palaces in their land; but they always had something else.

There might be, and often was, a wall of the people, and even if they were able to put that down, they had reason to be afraid of members of their own family. The career of Peter I, more commonly called "Peter the Great," will give an example of such troubles.

Peter was born in 1672. He was the son of the second wife of Czar Alexis. He had one sister, four half-sisters and two half-brothers. Upon the death of the Czar, one of the half-brothers, the sickly Theodore, came to the throne.

Theodore died after ruling only six years. Then it was the turn of another half-brother to be crowned; but he, also, was sickly; and, his sister, the Princess Sophia, caused ten-year-old Peter to be proclaimed Czar.

That action caused civil warfare to break out, and for years the kingdom was upset by fighting and by plots to kill. Sophia at length plotted to have her one-time favorite, Peter, killed; but he was warned in time, and ordered Sophia to be placed in a convent, where she was held for fifteen years.

When he felt that his power was safe, Peter—a young man in his twenties—went on a tour of western Europe. He visited Prussia, Holland and England, and was much interested in the ways of the people he visited.

Best of all in their ships. In those days, Peter did not have an ice-free port, and it became the ambition of Peter to obtain such a port.

Peter ended his tour when he learned that his throne was in danger. Returning to Moscow, he made his power firm once more; but before long his country was at war with Turkey.

In 1700, peace was made with the
